Mozart Club Musical.

The seventh annual concert of the Mozart Club, held last Tuesday evening in the Parish House of Christ Church, was a musical treat of the highest order, and compares favorably with any concert that the club has yet given.

The orchestral numbers by the club were rendered in a highly creditable manner. Each successive season shows a decided advancement in their work, and the club's performance of Tuesday evening elicited nothing but words of praise from the most critical. The overture, "The Mill on the Cliff," and the waltz, "Vienna Woods," were especially admired. The cello solos of Mr. Geo. E. Clauser as usual were excellent, and the enthusiastic encore accorded him gave decided evidence that the audience knew and appreciate music produced by an artist of such rare merit as Mr. Clauser. Mr. Richard's piano solo was also rendered in a finished manner, and the cello trio by Messrs. Ward, Smith and Clauser was greatly admired. Miss Julia May, a contralto of Brooklyn, though handicapped by a severe cold, sang in a charming manner. Altogether the concert was most successful and the audience are under obligations to the Mozart Club for an enjoyable evening with "Entree."

A Social Gathering.

Last Friday evening there was a large gathering of the First Presbyterian Sunday School teachers in the rooms adjoining the church, it being the time set for their social gathering. The privilege of inviting a guest was accorded to each, and all were requested to wear the symbol of a book. The literary productions represented covered a large latitude, in fact ranged all the way from the ridiculous to the sublime, and many and clever were the contrivances worn.

After full time was given for the guessing, the cards were collected and an invitation tendered to all present to adjourn to the Parish House, where tables were laid most invitingly with a pretty decorated card at the place of each teacher and guest, Salad, sandwiches, cake and cream and coffee were then discussed with a great deal of good natured pleasantry between courses about book quotations etc. The speeches which followed, were entertaining and instructive, well seasoned with humorous little hits which were provocative of plenty of laughter and good fellowship. One pleasant feature of the evening was the presence and assistance of the choir and organist. The meeting came to a happy close with the singing of the hymn "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

First Church Guild.

The members and friends of the Young People's Guild were well repaid for their good attendance at the musical given in the Sunday School room on Tuesday evening.

Palms and Easter lilies lent their beauty to the rooms on this special occasion, and made-timed leaflets dispensed by the ushers indicated from their personal a generous provision of good things for the ears of the audience. The opening and closing numbers were orchestral selections by Dr. Sheets, Mr. Tryon, Mr. Chase, Mr. Ellis, Mr. Morris, and Mrs. Wm. A. Holt, accompanist.

The soloists were Mr. Benjamin Stanley Webb, Mrs. Frank Baker, Mr. F. Eugene Cobb and Miss Laura Pendleton Ward, pianist. The Misses Martin contributed a duet, also Miss Elliott and Mr. Webb. The majority of the contributors were old time favorites with the audience and their selections were delivered in such a way as to merit great satisfaction and unanimous encores.

Mrs. George Irving Jewell's readings were not the least interesting part of the entertainment. They indicated the dramatic feeling and unmistakable talent.

Owing to the careful arrangement of the programme the entertainment provided was sufficiently varied to be pleasing and profitable.

Political Notes.

The Republican Ward Primaries were held last Friday night and were well attended. The contests for Town Committee in the First Ward and Assessor in the Second Ward were exciting. In the First Ward Elias S. Osborne received 50 votes and John A. Lawrence 144. The three contested rights for Assessor in the Second Ward resulted in the nomination of Thomas Rawson, Jr., by the following votes: Rawson, 92; Lewis Cockefer 51, and George W. Cadmus 46. In the Third Ward there was no contest.

The convention was held in Dodd's Hall last Saturday night. Theodore H. Ward presided. All the township officers were renominated without opposition.

The next convention will be composed of 33 delegates as follows: First Ward 12, Second Ward 9 and Third Ward 12.

The election officers in the Second Ward found a Democratic ticket for the Newark City election which some one had cast as a joke or perhaps by mistake. This ballot was rejected.
